Biography

Nick Maltese Studio was born from the desire of a diverse group of young architects and interior designers from across Italy and with diverse academic backgrounds to combine their experience and knowledge to create comprehensive and comprehensive projects, taking care of every detail from conception to completion.

The desire to experiment, the attention to materials and lighting research, and the combination of the diverse experiences of each partner in different fields of architecture are the key ingredients of a team that aims to create new architectural trends by using and blending the diverse languages of architecture and art history.

NM Studio's core business ranges from the design and interior design of commercial spaces, such as cocktail bars, restaurants, and boutiques, to hotels and resorts, without ever neglecting product planning and design, as evidenced by its participation in the Salone del Mobile in Milan.

The dynamic design approach, inspired by the principle of storytelling, is what sets NM Studio apart. In fact, the projects created do not only speak of materials, spaces and forms, but tell stories capable of animating architecture.
